Mr. Duffy: At first you insisted that you would only correspond by fax. Then, even when I agree to your mode of communication, you insist on responding to a third person.

I represent my self in this matter in which you incurred a debt. That debt is to me.

I have no choice but to seek resolutiuon of this either from you or your clients in another venue if you cannot resolve it.

If you are short of cash, I will work with you to arrange a payment schedule.

But after your attempt in the trespass case to illegally collect money not due you, I sense that your mode of operation is to try to get money from people who don't owe it to you, then deny money to those you owe it to, the consequences to your clients notwithstanding.

I intend to publish all correspondence regarding this matter.

Dear Sir:

On June 11, 2001, I sent you a fax requesting that you honor the debt you incurred by asking that I produce documents for you related to the case Putnam Pit v. Cookeville.

You responded not to me but to Samuel Harris, who does not represent me in this action for collection.

I will be happy to discuss a payment plan to allow you to maintain your firm's credit rating and avoid an unpleasant or highly publicized conflict. Since this debt was incurred on behalf of The City of Cookeville and the Tennessee Municipal League, the credit rating of those entities will be affected by your actions. In the past your firm has created unnecessary costs and fees for your clients, as you know

Please remove your personal feelings toward me and my publication as it likely will cause yet more trouble to your clients.

Kindly honor your contract and cease and desist from converting the money to your own purposes, if that is what you are doing.

It should be clear to you that I intend to pursue this collection and contacting third parties to avoid paying your debt will not accomplish that end.

I represent myself in this matter and I will take the steps myself to see that my interests are safeguarded.
